Sainik Samachar

The Author began his story with his birth in 1931 in a small town of Murcia, Province of Negros Occidental and Negros Islands in an underdeveloped country of the Philippines in the Far East. Cresencio L. Calansingin, his father secured an employment as one of the swimming pool cleaners and Angelina G. Calansingin, his mother moved to the Mambucal Spring Summer Resort at the Provincial Government Forest Reservation area at the mountainside of Canlaon Mountain of Negros Islands. The couple transferred down to the Bago River Ferry Mambucal Bridge, two years later, when both secured employment as Toll Collectors of the Bridge. Bago River was an isolated location, six kilometers east to the Mambucal Spring Summer Resort and eight kilometers west to the town of Murcia. The Author at a very tender age had the river for a playground. He contracted ear infections because of daily diving into the water and swimming on the river. The infection spread and hardened his sinus cavities causing stammering of speech. Ignorance, neglect, and distances to the Provincial Hospital 34 kilometers west to Bacolod City, the capital of the Province aggravated his medical condition. The Authors father died when he was 6 years old and his mother remarried a year later. Then World War II broke out and the Authors paternal grandparents decided they took the orphaned boy under their custody in as much as the widowed mother married a widower who had two children by his previous marriage. The Author at age 10 years old, worked with his grandfather, aged 56 years old. They cleared a two-hectare piece of land of abandoned sugarcanes, plowed, and harrowed the soil using plows or harrows pulled by the carabaos while each walked after each work animal pulling the farm implement. The Author stumbled many times after the plow handle every time the plowshare hit the resisting sugarcane roots that embedded deeply and securely to the earth. There were hundreds of rows in a hectare and hundreds of roots in a row and he stumbled hundreds of times while his grandfather looked after his welfare and waited patiently for his recovery and they went on plowing the fields. Plowing and harrowing the fields were two aspects of rice farming, they sat, knelt, and pulled away every weed from every root of the plants that competed against the plants for nutrients from the soil. They were hard labor but they needed the rice from the plants for subsistence. The Author discovered that chewing sugarcanes the whole day or eating root crops such as camote (sweet potato), cassava, and corn did not supply the required nutrition. He needed the staple food of rice and fish for daily existence. Food, shelter, and clothing were his grandparents preoccupation during wartime. They planted rice, camote, cassava, corn, beans, and mongo according to the months (season). They raised fowls for supplemental food. His grandfather was a skilled carpenter and they built a hut made of cogon grasses and bamboo tree materials. His grandmother assembled pieces of clothes and sewed them for his pants and shirt because he refused wearing clothes improvised out of empty sugar sacks. A group of marauders swooped down late one night and carted all their foodstuff, clothes, and they started all over again. His grandmother saw to it that they ate rice once a day while root crops made up for breakfast and dinner. They went half-hungry every day for months until they produced again the much-needed staple food. Three long years of World War II was not a dream. It was waking up every morning, heading to the carabao enclosure, and taking the work animals to labor or to pastures whether under the heat of the dry season sun or under the downpour of the rainy days. Work animals need food too and his daily tasks included riding them to pastures. He grazed the carabaos to the tall abandoned sugarcane for the animals loved chewing the offshoot sugarcane leaves, then he disembarked suddenly and went after the birds n

Oswaal Kerala SSLC Question Bank Class 9 Chemistry Chapterwise & Topicwise (For March 2020 Exam)

NEET Exam Chemistry Question Bank: Topic wise and NCERT Based MCQs NEET Chemistry is considered to be the most scoring subject. As it is one of the easiest scoring subjects, it is often ignored and undermined a subject. But if you want to get an edge over others, here is a tip, master NEET Chemistry concepts. Chemistry demands the attention of students in understanding reactions and concrete basic understanding but once done it only gets easier from there. NEET is amongst one the most prestigious medical entrance exams in India. With just a few months left for the examination, it becomes quite challenging for students to cover all the concepts included in the NEET syllabus thoroughly. However, a proper study plan designed as per the latest examination pattern and the syllabus can help students to prepare all the important concepts in shorter time duration. Given below are few useful tips that can assist the students in tackling multiple-choice questions in NEET exam accurately. In most of the multiple choice questions, the options are designed in a very tricky and confusing manner. In most of the cases, all the given options seem to be correct in some aspect. Therefore, the students are advised to read the entire question very carefully. Try to accumulate all the information provided in the question effectively because in some of the cases you can easily evaluate the Answers from the question itself. If you are muddled by the given options, then, give each option a true and false test. Instead of getting confused, consider all the possibilities and neglect the incorrect options. Hence, in this way, the most appropriate answer could be easily spotted. Topic-wise MCQs for NEET Chemistry · Environmental Chemistry · Organic Chemistry · P Block Elements · States of Matter · Redox Reaction · Chemical Equilibrium · Thermodynamics · Periodic Classification of Elements · s Block Elements · Chemical Bonding Molecular Structure · Structure of Atom · Some Basic Concepts of Chemistry · Hydrocarbons · Some Basic Concepts of Chemistry · Solid State · Structure of Atom · Solutions · Classification of Elements and Periodicity in Properties · Electrochemistry · Chemical Bonding and Molecular Structure · Chemical Kinetics · States of Matter: Gases and Liquids · Surface Chemistry · Thermodynamics · General Principles and Processes of Isolation of Elements · Equilibrium · Redox Reactions · d and f Block Elements · Hydrogen · Coordination Compounds · Haloalkanes and Haloarenes · Some p-Block Elements · Alcohols, Phenols and Ethers · Organic Chemistry- Some Basic Principles and Techniques · Aldehyde, Ketones and Carboxylic Acids · Hydrocarbons · Organic Compounds Containing Nitrogen · Environmental Chemistry · Biomolecules, Polymers and Chemistry in Everyday Life Use a step-wise approach to solve conceptual and complex questions. Several times Matching type Questions are asked where the students are required to find the mismatched or the correctly matched option. Some of the questions asked in the NEET exam are entirely memory-based; therefore, the students are advised to memorize the common names, scientific names, concepts and important definitions. Around 40% of the questions asked in the NEET exam are application-based. Therefore, students need to focus more on the concepts along with its applications in order to score well in the examination. Chemistry topics broadly can be grouped into - Organic, Inorganic and Physical chemistry. Organic Chemistry is a vast section and holds the maximum weightage. Its concepts and principles are important. One needs to be conversant with properties of groups, conversions, recognizing organic compounds etc. Interlinking between different chapters from organic chemistry can be of great help. The students must primarily focus on reading NCERT textbooks. Several times the questions asked in NEET exam are taken directly from the NCERT textbooks. Initially avoid answering those questions for which you are not confident because your wrong answer may reduce your final score. In order to utilize your time appropriately, divide the three hours of examination time as per your comfort among Physics, Chemistry, and Biology. Initially, focus on attempting all easy questions and later on pick the difficult ones. By this way, your confidence will be elevated and you will also get more time to answer hard questions. Practice previous years' question papers/mock tests and sample papers to get an idea on how to answer MCQ questions efficiently. Preparing at an early stage is what an MCQ exam requires. Avoid guesswork for negative marking questions as they might lower your final score. These tips can be very helpful for students to answer difficult and brain teaser questions. Prior preparations and practice are mandatory aspects of any examination. Hence, to crack highly competitive examination like NEET, it is mandatory for students to prepare well and acquire the skills to tackle multiple choice questions effectively. Rather than just following mere guesswork, the aspirants can focus on the tips discussed to tackle Multiple Choice Questions in NEET in the right manner.
